

Tracing guide for lowercase 'g' and uppercase 'G'. The lowercase 'g' is formed by three strokes: 1. a horizontal line from left to right, 2. a vertical line down from the end of stroke 1, and 3. a curve starting from the top of stroke 2, going left and then down. The uppercase 'G' is formed by two strokes: 1. a curve starting from the top right, going left and then down, and 2. a horizontal line from left to right across the top. A dashed horizontal line is shown between the two letters. Below the letters are three illustrations: a bag of sugar labeled 'sagan', a button, and a tree.

Tracing guide for lowercase 'g' and uppercase 'G'. The lowercase 'g' is formed by three strokes: 1. a horizontal line from left to right, 2. a vertical line down from the end of stroke 1, and 3. a curve starting from the top of stroke 2, going left and then down. The uppercase 'G' is formed by two strokes: 1. a curve starting from the top right, going left and then down, and 2. a horizontal line from left to right across the top. A dashed horizontal line is shown between the two letters. Below the letters are three illustrations: a bag of sugar labeled 'sagan', a button, and a tree.

Tracing guide for lowercase 'g' and uppercase 'G'. The lowercase 'g' is formed by three strokes: 1. a horizontal line from left to right, 2. a vertical line down from the end of stroke 1, and 3. a curve starting from the top of stroke 2, going left and then down. The uppercase 'G' is formed by two strokes: 1. a curve starting from the top right, going left and then down, and 2. a horizontal line from left to right across the top. A dashed horizontal line is shown between the two letters. Below the letters are three illustrations: a bag of sugar labeled 'sagan', a button, and a tree.

Tracing guide for lowercase 'g' and uppercase 'G'. The lowercase 'g' is formed by three strokes: 1. a horizontal line from left to right, 2. a vertical line down from the end of stroke 1, and 3. a curve starting from the top of stroke 2, going left and then down. The uppercase 'G' is formed by two strokes: 1. a curve starting from the top right, going left and then down, and 2. a horizontal line from left to right across the top. A dashed horizontal line is shown between the two letters. Below the letters are three illustrations: a bag of sugar labeled 'sagan', a button, and a tree.

Tracing guide for lowercase 'g' and uppercase 'G'. The lowercase 'g' is formed by three strokes: 1. a horizontal line from left to right, 2. a vertical line down from the end of stroke 1, and 3. a curve starting from the top of stroke 2, going left and then down. The uppercase 'G' is formed by two strokes: 1. a curve starting from the top right, going left and then down, and 2. a horizontal line from left to right across the top. A dashed horizontal line is shown between the two letters. Below the letters are three illustrations: a bag of sugar labeled 'sagan', a button, and a tree.

Tracing guide for lowercase 'g' and uppercase 'G'. The lowercase 'g' is formed by three strokes: 1. a horizontal line from left to right, 2. a vertical line down from the end of stroke 1, and 3. a curve starting from the top of stroke 2, going left and then down. The uppercase 'G' is formed by two strokes: 1. a curve starting from the top right, going left and then down, and 2. a horizontal line from left to right across the top. A dashed horizontal line is shown between the two letters. Below the letters are three illustrations: a bag of sugar labeled 'sagan', a button, and a tree.